Are we in Danger of Losing our Food Freedom?

Without seeds, there is no food. Whether carnivore, herbivore, or omnivore, the food chain begins with seeds.

Nearly 70% of the world's seed market is controlled by just 10 multi-national corporations. (Source: GM Watch)

These corporations, genetically modify, hybridize, and patent the seeds...claiming ownership over altered nature.

In addition, some doctors advise eating a GMO free diet. (Source: American Academy of Environmental Medicine)

Seed Police is a Good Samaritan story set in a dystopian society, warning of control of the very basis of life on the planet, seeds. This engaging story is a cautionary tale, with hope. One that can be used as a tool alongside current awareness campaigns to reach audiences through compelling storytelling.
